

Curcas Oil N.V. - Carbon Credits -

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, August 10th, 2010

Today the Philippine subsidiary of Curcas Oil N.V, Curcas Oil Philippines Inc, is signing the contract for the sustainable support and long-term obtainment of carbon credits in collaboration with the Indian company Emergent Ventures International Pte Ltd.

(<http://www.emergent-ventures.com>).

Initially, the contract includes the support in the application process and subsequently the efficient exploitation of the enormous potential of the carbon credits, which is driven by the strong growing demand of the major industrial concerns. Over the next seven years up to 1,000,000 carbon credits from the currently planned 10,000ha shall be obtained and sold. In return, the internationally operating and very experienced Indian contractual partner Emergent Ventures will receive 10% of the revenue generated by the carbon credits as the main means of payment.

Following the successful application process Curcas Oil Philippines Inc. can calculate with disproportional growth of the generated revenue in the coming years, because the forecasted revenue from carbon credits will be fixed through a set method by the UNO for several years. Moreover the sustainability of the business model will be underlined and highlighted by this milestone.

Following to trial project the model shall also be implemented in the other countries. After thorough due diligence Curcas Oil is pleased to now commence with the implementation.
